

Donate blood in memory of Evan Nathan Smith

At Evan Nathan's inquest, Coroner Dr Andrew Walker said his life may have been saved if a blood transfusion had been given when he requested help.

We need more Black people to donate blood to help patients with sickle cell.

Donate on 19th and 20th June, at a series of special blood sessions in London, Manchester, Birmingham and Bristol.

Call the priority booking line on 0300 303 2737
to book your appointment or scan here:

United by Blood is a coalition of black organisations working together to raise awareness of blood disorders and blood donation.

Supported by

Blood and Transplant