

Steven Potter profile – NHSBT

Steven's career has covered over 30 years in senior supply chain and logistics roles, mainly in the retail, e-commerce and renewable energy sectors, as well as several roles as a Strategy Director. Whilst working for a global portfolio business, he acted in a Non-Executive Director capacity in nine businesses covering sectors as diverse as financial services, offshore oil and gas project management, ship management, and woodland burial parks.

He has led significant organisational transformation programmes, involving cultural, physical, and digital change, whilst also developing a depth of knowledge in legal, commercial and financial matters.

He has completed the Senior Executive Programme at London Business School, appeared on the BBC's The Daily Politics programme as guest of the day, and plays viola in a number of the North's best amateur orchestras.