To help you stay well after you have given blood:

- If you feel faint (lightheaded or dizzy, hot, sweating, trembling or shaky, nauseous), lie down immediately, raise your feet and legs, rest until you feel better and drink plenty of fluids
- If bleeding recurs, sit down, raise your arm and press on the donation site for at least 5 minutes
- Make sure you drink plenty of fluids (not alcohol)
- Leave the dressing on your arm for at least 6 hours and avoid wearing tight sleeves
- Avoid heavy lifting for the rest of the day
- Avoid activities which may present a hazard to you or others if you were to start feeling unwell
- Avoid strenuous exercise and heat such as in saunas and hot baths
